before Constantinople. This is a dan-us feature of the affair, and is adding felt on all sides. ite of the threatened storm, however, ultan persists in his refusal to issue rmans, and has again made an evasive reply to the British embassador's representations on the subject. But Sir Philip Currie, when assured by Tewfik Pasha that the firmans would be forthcoming, promptly telegraphed to the admiral in command of the British Mediterranean squadron, in-structing him to dispatch a gunboat to the Derdanelles, to be used in the Bosphorus as an extra guard ship at the disposal of the British embassy. As a result the twinscrew torpede gunboat Dryad, 1,070 tons, carrying four seven-inch quick-firing and four six-pounder guns, was dispatched to the pardanelles, and is expected to arrive at Chanakkale to-day and pass right on to the Bosphorus. The failure of the Porte to grant permission for the passage of the straits of the Dardanelles thus puts Sir Philip Currie in a somewhat embarrassing position, the only escape from which is to order away the Dryad or to insist that she be allowed to pass in, backing up the order by force, if that should be necessary.

TEWFIK PASHA UPBRAIDED. The Suitan is known to be in a state the greatest agitation at the news that the extra British gunboat is heading for the Dardanelles on the strength of the assurances given the British embassador by the Minister of Foreign Affairs and consequently the position of Tewfik Pasha is not a pleasant one. The latter was sent for at midnight and an exciting interview took place between him and the Sultan, during which the latter bitterly and tearfully reproached Tewfik Pasha for his action in the matter. The Pasha tried to justify himself by recalling that the granting of the firmans had been agreed to in substance by the Sultan; that he, as in duty bound, so informed Sir Philip Currie when the latter sent an urgent message asking for a prompt reply to several communications on the subject. The Sultan insisted that it was impossible to issue the firmans, as it would cause rioting in Constantinople, and that the powers should be content with the measures taken by the government to maintain order and not hamper the auritles by making a demonstration likely to undo all the good he was endeavoring

The Sultan then instructed Tewfik Pasha to do everything possible to induce the British embassador to countermand his order for the bunboat. Sir Philip, however, refused to do so, saying that he was tired of being trifled with and reminding his visitor that Great Britain was acting fairly within her treaty rights and on the assurance of a responsible member of the Turkish government that the Porte had ided to grant permission for the extra guard boats to pass the Dardanelles.

Tewfik Pasha returned to the palace in a very unenviable frame of mind and announced the failure of his mission to the Sultan. The latter is said to have been frantic with rage and drove Tewlik from esident of the State Council, Said Pasha, who is supposed to have some influence with Sir Philip Currie, was thereupon hurriedly sent for and reached the apartments of the Sultan after 1:30 a. m. Abdul Hamid eagerly besought him to go immediately to the British embassador and spare no effort to induce him to order the recall the Dryad. The entreaties of Pasha seem to have had weight with the bassador, for Sir Philip finally consented place the whole matter at that late once more before his government and to await further instructions, although understood to have carte blanche to what steps he thinks is necessary to take in treating with the Sultan. The rkish officials believe the Marquis of lisbury, acting on the understanding that thing is to be done to ninder the eforts of the Sultan in the work of mainorder may instruct Sir Philip to frect the commander of the Dryad not to enter the Dardanelles at present. THE SULTAN HAS LOST HIS HEAD.

Abdul Hamid appears to have completely lost his head, the public service is entirely disorganized, the Cabinet Ministers are being sent for from the palace at all hours of the day and night and may be said to be in almost constant attendance at the Yildiz Kiosk. Everybody is anxious and worried, the embassadors being as tired as everybody else here at the long months of almost fruitless efforts to induce the Sultan to really govern his empire with some degree of common sense. The little news received here from Asiatic Turkey only tends to make the situation look blacker. The burrying of troops to Syria and Palestine continues, and there is no doubt that the us Druses will have to submit to evy reckoning with the Turks for their uprising. The flames of a holy war, always smoldering among the Musselmans, are being dangerously fanned and may at any time burst forth into a configgration which will compel all Europe to take a hand in saving the lives and property of many thousands of almost helpless Christians. A stray shot, a sharp blow may explode the magazine with which the weak-

The unyielding attitude of the Sultan on nestion of extra guard ships is much ented on by the members of the diplomatic corps here, especially as the powers are asking only for the rights to which they are entitled under the treaties with Turkey. They hold that an increase in the number ard ships here is absolutely indispensable, as the danger to foreigners has not by any means passed, as the Turkish govment would try to make the powers betaken to give protection to foreigners, but the constant receipt of news telling of fresh massacres of Christians causes the utmost measiness, not only among the foreigners here, but among the Mussulmans, who are naturally excited by such events, and whose m is being aroused by reports circulated, probably at the intance of the palace advisers of the Sultan, that the powers are desirous of making a naval demonstration in these waters, and so sulting the Sultan by ignoring his authorassuming to look with contem pon his efforts to maintain order. It will hus be seen that the Mussulmans here may be secretly aroused to making a demonstraon when the extra war ships enter the us. In order to avoid this it is unmstances permit it, come in singly and

ARMED FORCE NECESSARY.

The embassadors, however, believe that trouble in this city can only be averted by an extra show of force here, and that in any case reinforcements are necessary to insure the safety of the foreign residents of Constantinople. The embassadors hold that | killed at present. The village of lartalon, further submission to the caprices of the palace would be a serious mistake on the part of the powers, and as this dispatch is sent they are anxiously awaiting final instructions from their governments to proceed to reinforce the foreign war ships mean that foreign fleets would be called on to escort the extra gunboats through the straits of the Dardanelles, even if a bombardment of the forts should be necessary. Polerance, it appears, has ceased to be a firtue in the present case, and even those who have been in favor of the most pacific treatment in dealing with the Sultan now ear to have arrived at the conclusion oring Abdul Hamid to his senses. The time ematic exchanges of views seems to ve about expired, and everybody here is rly expecting the news that the war hips of the powers are heading for the entrance to the Dardanelles. There has been some delay in the re-ceipt of the answer to the message which Sir Philip Currie sent to London after his terview early this morning with Said Pahat Great Britain has decided on further ay, but this is not the general opinion

United States Minister Terrell has received tails confirming the reported massacre of Christians and the destruction of American ission property at Marash on Nov. 18. It now established beyond a doubt that the hool of science attached to the American ssion and other buildings were pillaged and set on fire, and that two other buildings selonging to the Americans were ransasked. Minister Terrell's advices also confirm the statement that no protection was afforded the Americans or their property, in spite of the promises of the Porte, until eight hours after the rioting. The American missionaries, telegraphing under date of Tueslast, from Marash, say they are all nder the protection of the Turkish aunorities. An estimate is being made of the hey are doing everything possible to re-tover the property looted from the Amer-can buildings.

The last outbreak at Erzerum, according to the official account of the affair, was of a triffing nature—only eight persons were killed—and is attributed by the Governor of Erzerum to an encounter between agents of the tobacco internal revenue department and some smugglers. The Armenian versions of the affair put an entirely different MISSIONARIES STILL IN PERIL. A dispatch from Kharput, dated yesterday, again reports that it has been established that the American mission buildings there, which were recently destroyed by rioters, previous to the massacre of about 800 Christians, were set on fire by the Kurds in the presence of the Turkish troops, who made absolutely no effort to prevent them from so doing. It is added that the Mussulmans who took part in the incendiarism, although the American missionaries and the unburned houses were protected by a detachment of about one hundred soldiers. Only slight confidence is felt in the security of the American missionaries who remain at Kharput and the conarrival here of letters from them, givng details of the recent disturbances at Kharput, leads to the belief that, in spite of the promises made by the Porte to Mr. Terrell, they have been intercepted by the Turkish authorities. Mr. Terrell will make urther representations to the Turkish government on this subject and everything ossible is being done to communicate with he American missionaries.

The local authorities here yesterday vainly asked the Armenian papers of this city to publish similar statements, under threat of suppressing the publication of the papers if they did not do so. The publishers reported that the statements were false and that under no circumstances would they publish them. The newspapers have not yet been sup-

RELIEF FOR ARMENIANS. Unless Aid Is Given Thousands Will Die of Starvation.

BOSTON, Nov. 29 .- The following reliable etter from an American resident in Constantinople was received here to-day: "The most pressing question next to that of the safety of the people who survive the provision of aid for the familie who have been slaughtered. Aid must come on a great scale or thousands will die. The powers will have control in some way before the money comes in, so that relief work on a large scale will be possible. The position here is critical in the extreme. The Turks coming in from Asiatic Turkey, flushed with massacre and pillage, are telling of their deeds, and a attorneys. loot our bazaars, with an accompanying slaughter, is possible at any moment. The Sultan is fighting for his life, and is not vet convinced that he is going to be punshed for his crimes. When the powers are ready to move on him he may order any wild act of revenge in the way of general massacre in order to go out in a cloud of smoke and glory. The powers are acting in the greatest secrecy that he may not have time to do this. When the fleets are ready to come in they will put themselves a communication with the Porte and demand the surrender of the Sultan's person, and I think that the Porte will dethrone im. But it will be an anxious time until Another letter from a reliable correspondent at Trebizond, Turkey, says that the Armenians, as a prosperous and enterprising community, are, for the present, wiped out of existence. In the western quarter, entirely surrounded by Tukish houses, it is said that twenty-five men and fifteen women perished. The condition of the Armenian villagers is pitiable indeed, their strong men killed and their houses looted and burned. The women and children, with the few men left, hover about under the shelter of the forest trees with no food and bedding, and only such thin clothing as they had on when this horrible massacre upon them.

The following cablegram was received today by the Rev. Judson Smith, D. D., of the American board, from Constantinople, by the way of Philippopol's, Bulgaria: "Missionaries at Harpoot, Bitlis and Ma-rash protected by soldiers, but streets un-safe for any Christians. Confidence weak. Difficult to send money for personal needs of missionaries." The confinement of the missionaries within their own homes nec essarily means the cessation of all their work, and a sure sign that they may soon be reduced to want and possible death by starvation. There are twenty-five missionaries in the three places named. Specia of Rev. Crosley Wheeler, D. D., and wife Dr. Wheeler is a confined invalid, over sev enty years old, and it is believed that he is still in Harpoot. He is the author of a well-known missionary volume "Ten Years on the Euphrates."

of Mercy in Armenia. NEW YORK, Nov. 29 .- News was received to-day of the safety of William Willard Howard, who was supposed to have been murdered by the Kurds while on ard was sent to Van several months ago by the Christian Herald, of New York, to distribute a relief fund of $12,000 contributed by Americans for the benefit of the Asia Minor sufferers. The Christian Herald to-day received the following cablegram from Mr. Howard, dated Djouifa, Persia, Twice driven back from Turkey, Kurds are devastating the country, and it is impossible to obtain guards at any price. I ave offered $500 for a safe escort to Van. The Hamidieh cavairy, assisted by regular Turkish troops disguised as Kurds, have destroyed forty-six Armenian villages between the Persian border and Van. Many persons have been massacred, a number women were ravished and girls abducted. impossible to estimate the number with a population of two hundred, was de-stroyed, all the people being slain. News has been received here that Armenian refugees are fleeing in all directions, mostly towards Van, which is now in a state of siege. The trees in the streets have been felled to give cannon free play. Cannon are trained on the Armenian quarter, and a massacre is expected.

"Armenian patriots gave battle to a large force of Hamidieh (Kurdish cavalry) for two days near Seral. Many were killed on both sides, and the Hamidieh withdrew. They destroyed Serai and attacked the Persian village of Kotour, but were repulsed by the fort and the Kotour garrison after a two days' fight. Turkish regulars waited near, ready to join in the plundering of the villagers if the Kurds succeeded in capturing it. The Hamidieh attacked and destroyed another village. Refugees in the various districts report that the entire province of Van is being destroyed by the Duke of Westminster's Views. NEW YORK, Nov. 29 .- The Duke of Westminster, according to a letter just received by the Armenian Relief Association, says: "No settlement of the Armenian question can be deemed satisfactory which does not place forever beyond the reach of their oppressors the remnant of the persecuted Christians in Turkey. This can best be done by an adequate and effective European control."

The Duke has written to the Russian, French, Austrian, German and Italian embassadors in London, begging them to ask their respective governments to co-operate with England. The Duke of Westminster expresses the hope that the Armenian Association will not fail to represent to President Cleveland the ardent desire of all who are working for the Armenians that the United States government will not only seek to protect its own subjects, but also those who have been educated and trained for useful occupations in the schools and colleges of American missions in Turkey.

Turkish Accounts of Outrages. gation received from the Sublime Porte the following telegram under to-day's date:

five Armenians were killed and six woundvinces. An Armenian of Marash set fire t is house, situated in the Mussulman part of the city, in order to start a big fire. The authorities of Diarik and Sivas found and restored to their owners the greater part of the stolen articles and cattle,"

What Johnston Said About Terrell. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 29.-Rev. r. M. Johnston, the Baptist minister of this complexion on the disturbance, saying the number of killed was much greater and that the rioting was occasioned by the rell last Sunday night, corrects a statement published in New York to the effect that he had said Mr. Terrell had actually adopted the Mohammedan religion. Mr. Johnston says he meant to convey the idea that Mr. Terrell might as well be a Turk so far as e Americans under the domain of the vors for himself, and does not bother himself about others. He says he did not charge Mr. Terrell with abetting the urder of Christians, or that he individully garbles or smothers press reports. The ty-three other members of his party, ask-ing for Minsister Terrell's removal has been forwarded to Secretary Olney.

The question up for debate was, of course, how much Miss Nicolaus would take to discontinue proceedings, It was said that one of the points which iduced Zella Nicolaus to agree to a compromise was that Mr. Gould's representatives have obtained the statement of in the deal which led to the original conjuest of the check for $40,000. The eviices of this man, it was reported, would naterially weaken the plaintiff's case. The World then says that Mr. Gould's law-yers paid Miss Nicolaus $10,000 in greenbacks. THE FIVE-MILE DITCH ACT DE-CLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

5,000 Gift from Senator Brice to Science Hall, Hanover College-Indiana Teachers' Associations.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 29,-Judge Capron, of the Pulaski Circuit Court, to-day decided the act of 1831, known as the fivemile ditch law, to be unconstitutional. The declaration is made on the fifteenth section, which creates a new court in the joint action of boards of commisisoners of twocounties, but which does not provide for a time or place of holding sessions. The ruling was made in what is known as the Hendee ditch case, which was taken from this county on a change of venue. In this Circuit Court the law was held to be constitutional. It went to Pulaski county for a new trial. The result of the decision in this county will be to stop payment of ditch assessments. The ditches were built and paid for with money borrowed by the county by the sale of bonds, the total amount for Foreign Missions unites with the Wom-an's Board of Missions in asking the Chris-tians of America to observe Friday, Dec. 6 (or such other day in the same week as may be more convenient in particular less the Supreme Court should reverse Judge Capron's ruling. It is said that this law has been acted on generally by the counties throughout the State, and that many costly ditches have been constructed by the issue of bends.

Adams said he was a laborer, living at No. 98 Cypress street. Heller identified Adams as the man who held him while Williams went through his pockets. Williams said he was a blacksmith, and that he lived at George's Hotel. The highwaymen are both powerful fellows, while Heller is an old man, and but for the timely appearance of Merchant policeman Webb Heller might have been fatally injured if not murdered outright. "It is, doubtless, true as a logical outcome of the resent political condition in Haiti," said Mr. Durham, "President Hippolyte is not seeking re-election, but is arranging to secure as his successor a man of his own choice. LONG MISSING STEAMER.

No Tidings Yet Received from the Pacific Liner Strathnevis. TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 29 .- Inquiry at the Northern Pacific steamship office reveals the fact that no tidings have been received from the missing steamer Strathnevis. which cleared for Yokohama Oct. 12 and left Victoria the next day. She is now forty-eight days out from Tacoma. Second officer Smith, of the steamer Tacoma, which arrived last night, says: "I have not given up hope that the Strathnevis will turn up all right. She must have run short of coal and put in at some port in the Aleutian islands. They have plenty of condensed milk and flour on board. If Captain Pattie did put his vessel in there it can be picked up all right by a British man-of-war sent out either from Victoria or Yokohama, but if the Strathnevis is disabled and drifts much south of the track followed by Oriental steamships and other sailing vessels the men are liable to die of starvation before being picked up. If the steamer finds a snug anchorage in the Aleutian isiands it is liable to lie there all winter, making Yokohama in the spring." The Strathnevis made two trips for the Northern Pacific line. She carried a cargo of two thousand tons of general freight and had a passenger list of 125 Chinese, most of them being merchants from Chicago, New York, Buffalo, Boston and Philadelphia, who were returning home from their visit after the Chinese war. Five deported Chinese from this State and Monported Chinese from this State and Montana were also on board. The Strathnevis was commanded by Captain James Pattie, whose officers are as follows: Chief officer, James Duncan; second officer, W. Robertson; third officer, W. McFarland; chief engineer, J. Rose; second engineer, A. Bell; third engineer, I. Coulter; fourth officer, J. Love; purser, J. McDonald.

The vessel belongs to the Strath line, of Glasgow. She was built at Newcastle-onHOBBS

More Favorable Reports Received Yesterday.

Thirteen Applicants for a Free Sample Say They Have Noticed a Marked Improvement in Their Condition, Four Slightly Better and Three See No Change.

Those Who Report No Improvement Are Old Chronic Cases of Long Standing.

So far, twenty-six people who applied at the Sentinel office on Monday and Tuesday last for a trial package of Dr. Hobbs's Sparagus Kidney Pills have reported. Of this number six reported on Wednesday and twenty yesterday. Of the total number, five have so far derived little if any benefit, and twenty-one find a marked change for the better.

The five who have experienced no good effects are, so far as they are able to tell, all old, chronic cases of long standing. Dr. Hobbs, however, feels absolutely cerin that the five stubborn cases above referred to will in time fall in line with the other convalescents. From the very start Dr. Hobbs has plainly stated that kidney troubles of long standing cannot be expected to yield at once. The very encouraging reports from so large a majority of those heard from are most gratifying to the doctor, and all indications so far point to the fact that both the public and himself will have great cause for rejoicing as the days go by. Any one wishing free consultation and advice regarding any or all kidney allments should address the Hobbs Medicine Company, 358 Dearborn street, Chicago. A competent specialist will gladly answer all inquiries. The public can rest assured that all communications will be regarded as of a strictly confidential nature. Dr. Hobbs's little book, which can be nad for the asking, either at your druggists or mailed free, will prove of inestimable value to all suffering from kidney trouble. .
